Section-A (Writing)

Q.1. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow :

1. Youth in any country form its backbone. It is on youth's shoulder that the responsibility for change, progress and innovations lies. Youth are starry eyed full of idealism and bubbling with energy to honestly fight for cause. Every age suffers from the conservation of its elders. It is the youth only who have the necessary courage and initiative to break the taboos and crippling practices. Mao Tung of China realised the latent power and dedication of the youth of his country. He, therefore, entrusted them with cultural Revoultion-a movement intended to weed out the deadwood in the party, who stood for status quo. Again in our own country, our youth played a significant role in the freedom struggle and made considerable sacrifices.
2. But, unfortunately, since the attainment of independence, the youth in the country have been going adrift. They have not been associated with the contemporary national problems.

3. We are well aware of the extensive damage that is being done to the fabric of our national structure by the parochial thinking along caste and communal lines. It is time, we shed partison prejudices and worked jointly for the progress of the country.
4. Another nagging problem that India faces today is that of population explosion. In a country, where every minute a child is born, all planning is bound to come to naught. All economic progress is certain to be nullified by the increase in the population. With ever-increasing mouths to feed, the government's efforts to strengthen the economic situation have yielded poor results.
5. Another important task that the youth can successfully undertake is to eliminate the curse of dowry. Dowry is responsible for a large number of deaths of innocent married girls and harassment of the parents of marriageable daughters. The youth both boys and girls should take pledge not to give and accept dowry. Also, they can force their parents to stop this undesirable practice.

(A) Choose the correct option to answer the following questions :

- I. The youth in any country are
 - (a) Starry-eyed
 - (b) full of idealism
 - (c) bubbling with energy
 - (d) all of the above

 - (a) maintaining the status quo
 - (b) obeying the orders of Mao Tse Tung
 - (c) removing the deadwood in the party
 - (d) attaining independence

- III. What can cause an extensive damage to national fabric ?
- (a) Thinking along caste and communal lines
 - (b) The partisan prejudices
 - (c) All working jointly for national development
 - (d) Both (a) and (b)
- IV. The nagging problem that India faces today as per the passage is :
- (a) The high death rate (b) Economic progress
 - (c) Drug addiction (d) Population Explosion

4×1 = 4

B. Find the words from the given choices that have the same meanings:

 - (c) Provide (d) join

3×1 = 3

Q.2. Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow :

- 1. To date happiness has defied definition. Most people tend to equate happiness with fun, good living, plenty of money. If happiness were synonyms with all this, rich people with all their luxuries and countless parties, would be perpetually happy. But in actual fact, they are frequently, acutely unhappy, despite their riches and ability to indulge in fun activities at will. Fun is what we experience during an act; happiness is that intangible something we experience after an act. We may have fun watching a movie, going shopping, meeting friends-these are all fun activities that afford us fleeting moments of relaxation and enjoyment. Happiness, on the other hand, is a much stronger, deeper and more abiding emotion.

2. If we perceive happiness as the ultimate goal, we must also devise a way to reach that goal. The way to happiness is not a smooth, broad highway along which we can cruise at a comfortable speed. It is a path through rocky and rugged terrain and the going can become very tough at times. At these times we have to roll up our sleeves and with pitchfork and shovel make our way onwards. This pursuit of happiness lasts a lifetime. Great happiness is earned only by great effort and effort not in spurts but diligent, constant effort.
3. Happiness is not a permanent vacation. Another prevalent belief is that if one were rich enough not to have to work, one would be blissfully happy. But a job is more than just a pay cheque. Almost all religions teach us that work is worship. Work holds the key to happiness as doing something which increases confidence and self-worth. It brings on a feeling of satisfaction, of doing something, of contributing.

4. A secret ingredient of happiness is contentment. Contentment here does not mean apathy or lack of ambition, just as commitment does not mean curtailment of freedom. Contentment teaches us to give so that we may receive and contentment helps us to cherish the gifts we have received. These things are worth a try even if they don't promise access to the pinnacle of success. Success, after all, has been described as getting what one wants, whereas happiness is liking what one gets.
- (A) On the basis of your reading of the above passage make notes on it, in points only, using recognizable abbreviations wherever necessary. Supply a suitable title to it.
- (B) Write a summary of the passage in about 80 words. $3 + 2 = 5$
